Location:

What can we learn about ourselves by reviewing the research about cultural differences East and West? Many theoretical approaches regard Asia and the West to be the dominant contrastive cultural traditions. This class will explore the features of those differences and help you to communicate better by knowing some of the differing norms for behavior and communication.

Instructor: Barbara Samara, University of California, Irvine

2:00PM – 4:00PM Intercultural Communication 102

What can we learn about ourselves by reviewing the research about cultural differences East and West? Many theoretical approaches regard Asia and the West to be the dominant contrastive cultural traditions. This class will explore the features of those differences and help you to communicate better by knowing some of the differing norms for behavior and communication.

Instructor: Barbara Samara, University of California, Irvine

Day 5 – Thursday, July 20, 2017 – Pomona

10:00AM-12:00PM Toxic and Intoxicating Leadership

Location:

Are there styles of leadership which would be considered toxic in any culture at any time? What are the cultural, historical and contextual apologies for bullies and tyrants? What should followers do? Students will deepen their understanding of communication theory to sharpen their sense of what makes a “good” leader. What are the features which stand out in any culture or any time or any situation? The class will look at historical leaders to consider the differing forces of culture, gender, warfare, geography and climate in the formation of good leaders. How do peoples make it through tough times intact?

Instructor: Barbara Samara, University of California, Irvine

2:00PM-4:00PM
Location:

Team Building Activities

For any team to succeed, 8 or so essential roles must be carried out with leadership appropriate to each. Learn about these roles, how individuals change roles or take on more than one, and then based on each team's experience and each individual's self-assessment, all roles will be distributed among each team's 5 or so members.

Students will then cluster in new temporary teams according to self-assessment insights and role assignments. These teams will be formed each with a distribution of styles. The activity will culminate with a fun and friendly competition.

The kit of materials for the final project will be distributed to each team.

Instructor: Dr. Ben Dewald, Professor, Collins College of Hospitality Management, Cal Poly Pomona
